FEED THE BIRDS

You'll need an old apple, pumpkin seeds, two twigs and string to make this birdfeeder.

1. First, tie the twigs together into a cross with a long piece of string.
2. Use an apple corer to remove the middle of the apple.
3. Push lots of pumpkin seeds into the apple's skin.
4. Now, thread the string through the apple. Find somewhere outdoors to hang your feeder, then tie a knot.

DAWN BIRDSONG

Birds start singing at the start of each new day. This is called the 'dawn chorus'. They sing to attract mates, send messages and warn other birds to keep away from their territory.

Now try... speaking 'bird'

You could whistle to the birds on your birdfeeder; or follow these instructions to try twit-tweeting to them.

1. Clasp your hands together, like this. Your hands can go this way round...
   ...or this way.

2. Place your lips around your thumbs' knuckles and blow. The air should go through the small gap between your thumbs and make a sound.

Twit-tweeting is hard and will take lots of practice. Some people find it easier than others.
